Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English. Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The City of Watertown: New York Watertown, the largest city in New York state north of the main line of the New York Central railroad, the Metropolis of the North Country, is situated in Jefferson County in the Black River Valley about seven miles from the junction of the river with Lake Ontario. The city is finely located on the banks of the river, which divides it into two unequal parts, the larger of which is situated on the south side of the stream. Most of the business blocks, the City and County buildings, and by far the larger portion of the handsome residences are on the south side of the Black River, while the northern section of the city is largely taken up with the vast manufacturing plants and the homes of many of the thousands who find their daily employment in the factories and mills. Watertown the city is called, and this name was chosen owing to the peculiar advantages which come to Watertown from its location on a river which offers chances...
