

In Praise of Older Women: The Amorous Recollections of Andras Vajda

By Stephen Vizinczey

Penguin Books Ltd. Paperback. Book Condition: new. BRAND NEW, In Praise of Older Women: The Amorous Recollections of Andras Vajda, Stephen Vizinczey, Stephen Vizinczey's remarkable, acclaimed worldwide bestseller "In Praise of Older Women" is published in Penguin Modern Classics. 'I am not an expert on sex, but I was a good student of the women I loved, and I'll try to recall those happy and unhappy experiences which, I believe, made a man out of me,' writes the narrator of this novel. Originally published by the author himself in 1965, "In Praise of Older Women" became an international bestseller and renowned classic, and its title is now part of the language. Stephen Vizinczey (b.1933) is a poet, playwright and novelist, best known for his novels "In Praise of Older Women" (1965) and "An Innocent Millionaire" (1983). Born in Hungary, he was only two years old when his father was assassinated by the Nazis, and later also lost his uncle to the communists. Having studied under George Lukacs at the University of Budapest, he graduated from the city's Academy of Theatre and Film Arts in 1956. He took part in the Hungarian Revolution of 1956, and later emigrated to Canada, speaking...
